AMUSEMENTS

Butler Theater

Tonight at the Butler theater will be shown four splendid reels of pictures, as follows: "The Cab Reporter's Temptation," a Kalem drama; a newspaper story with some very interesting views taken from the roof of a large building in New York city; "Over the Back Fence," an Edison comedy. This picture is a ripple of laughter which will amuse every one; "Broncho Billy and the Outlaw's Mother," an Essanay drama; and "Thou Shalt Not Kill," a Vitagraph. Some of the scenes in this picture give Julia Swayne Gordon a better chance than she has had, so far as we have noticed, in a long while and it is needless to say that she does some fine work in picturing a mother and also one who will soon be a mother again, as unjustly accused of killing her husband and condemned to die. We are shown who did the murder, the trial and scenes in the prison. When the woman's condition is discovered, the governor commutes the sentence. Meanwhile the culprit's conscience has been troubling him and he confesses. Robert Gailford, Adele de Garde, E. R. Phillips and Logan Paul have parts and do good work. It makes a very fair picture. Thursday, "Never Too Late to Mend," an Edison two-reel feature.

CONTRACTORS ISSUE WARNING TO CHILDREN

CHILDREN PLAYING ABOUT NEW SCHOOL BUILDING IN DAN-GER OF INJURY

Warning notices have been posted in and about the new school building under construction on University street requesting all persons to keep away from the structure. School children have been in the habit of playing in and about the building, regardless of the danger attached. Many of the more venturesome have climbed to the second story while indulging in games and there is danger of injury should a misstep be made. The rafters are in place and it would be an easy matter for the lads to sustain serious injury by falling through to the lower floor.

The contractors request all persons to remain away from the building at the present time and parents are also asked to warn their children that they will not be permitted within the structure. If necessary, the contractors declare they will secure police protection to prevent trespassing by children as the firm has no desire to be held liable to any injuries that might result.
